Storm at Pleasant Point.

Winnipeg Free Press.

Carberry, May 21.—Uprooted trees, shattered fences and dismantled buildings with wreckage scattered far and wide, makes plain the track of the cyclone, which swept with terrific violence over the Pleasant Point district yesterday afternoon.

This afternoon your correspondent personally visited the scene of the storm, eight miles east of here. Earlier information failed to convey an appreciative conception of the violence of the storm. Starting in the southern sand hills for three miles it swept across the country a clean path three or four hundred feet in width. Fortunately the number of buildings in the belt was limited to half a dozen, but of these nothing remained, but shattered timbers, or some, not even that. Narrow escapes were many though miraculously by fatalities were averted. The loss in the district will total $10,000 and with the exception of a small amount on a granary belonging to Dr. Eaton it is understood there is no insurance.

The principal sufferers say:

John Mattice, house, stable and furniture, $2,500.

Hugh McGill, house and stable, $1,500.

S. McCurdy, house, $700.

D. McDougall, furniture, $500.

Dr. Eaton, granary, $200.

J. Aikenhead, threshing outfit, $500.

This is the second year in succession that this district has been visited by a cyclone. In 1901 the storm came in July, but although it devastated a wider area the residents declare that in violence it was not to be compared to the Tuesday hurricane. It is an unfortunate coincidence that two of the heaviest sufferers this year were also large losers last year. The cyclone which sprung up about 2 o'clock, first struck the property of Mr. Mattice. Besides himself and wife there were at home his two sons, K. A. and Albert, and a daughter, Miss Maggie. A short distance south of their home is a small lake and as the storm swept over it it churned the water into a foaming whirlpool.

So violent was the disturbance that to-day ducks which had been dispersing on its surface floated dead to the banks. As the cyclone was seen approaching in the distance a hurried effort was made to get the family under cover. But before this could be accomplished the storm was upon them in all its fury, and the members of the family with the exception of the daughter, were obliged to take refuge in a semi-underground milk house. The daughter was imprisoned in the house by the wind and as it struck the house a large heavily constructed log building, it tore off the roof and detached the kitchen from the main portions. For a few seconds there was a lull, and seizing the opportunity Miss Mattice rushed to the place of safety where the others were protected. Her quickness and decision probably saved her life. In another second the kitchen was upturned and smashed to kindling wood, and the whole upper part of the house was carried away. From their retreat the family could see the wreck of their houses. The air was thick with flying timbers and furniture of every description. The cyclone lasted less than four minutes. When it had passed the scene was one of indescribable devastation. The house, with the exception of the first floor on the main building, was totally wrecked. One of the stables was destroyed and underneath the wreckage six horses and a colt were pinned. Wagons, implements, and a threshing outfit, belonging to J. Aikenhead, Carters, were smashed and a large stack of oat sheaves were strewn broadcast. All over the adjoining fields the wreckage was scattered. The heavy timbers being carried over one hundred feet. Efforts were immediately directed to the release of the horses, and a bull were confined, but none were injured, though the roof of the threshing caboose crashed in among them. In the house everything, with the exception of some articles on the first floor, were smashed. The clock, which was stopped by the storm as it struck the house, showed the time to be 1:57 in the afternoon. Strange to say one of the stables and a granary near the house were not touched by the cyclone.

Two miles north the house occupied by D. McDougall and his aged parents was struck by the cyclone. At the first indications of the storm McDougall attempted to close the door, the next thing he remembers is picking himself out from among the debris. The house had been lifted from the foundation and was now a total wreck fifty feet away. McDougall's parents fortunately were away visiting and his own escape was miraculous.

Railroad Phone a Success.

A train crew 400 miles from Chicago telephoned over the telephone wires to Chief Operator Parsons, of the Illinois Central railroad, at the Twelfth Street Station. As a result, the railroad telephone was declared to be a success. The train was stopped near Fulton, Ky., and the telephoned was connected with the regular wire running to Chicago. In spite of the fact that the message had to travel over iron wires, which ran parallel to those of the same type of other wires, every word was distinctly heard by Mr. Parsons.

The inventor, R. J. Tillman, says it makes no difference whether or not telegraphic messages are being flashed over the wires simultaneously with the telephone messages. This was proved true by the successful transmission from Fulton to the same Mr. Parsons was talking with the crew.

Chicago Twine Market.

Farm Implement News.

A break in sisal hemp on Monday last (from which the market had only partly recovered on Wednesday) effectually checked the inclination of twine manufacturers to advance prices this week as some of them had doubtless intended. The break was entirely unexpected by manufacturers, but was in line with the predictions of Yucatan hemp shippers, some of the hemp exporters were expecting a decline about July 1 or perhaps earlier. Probably none expected it would occur this month, however.

At the reduced fiber price the present quotation on sisal twine is normal and embraces a fair margin. It is not believed that this flurry will effect the twine market, but it has created an atmosphere of uncertainty that was almost totally lacking in the situation prior to this week. Manufacturers believe that the hemp market will be over its former position in a short time because they are assured that foreign stocks are low and that much twine must still be manufactured to insure an adequate supply.

Prices remain unchanged and are as follows:

Sisal	111-2
Standard	111-2
Manila, 500-foot	123-4
Manila, 600-foot	14
Paranilla	151-2

Five ton lots, 1-8 cent less. Car lots, 1-4 cent less. Full terms.

The Coronation Service.

Canon Armitage Robinson, who was the preacher at the last service held in Westminster Abbey before its closing for the coronation preparations, delivered a most interesting address, while he gave a complete forecast of the actual coronation service.

Canon Robinson pointed out that although instructions had been given to the archbishop after archbishop in the past 600 years to shorten the service, while preserving its essential features, it had almost invariably left their hands longer than it was before, and stated that on the 26th June next the ancient ecclesiastical ritual will be faithfully preserved, and the pomp of the ceremony will suffer no diminution.

A large raised platform, called the theatre, will, he said, have been erected then in the space between the choir and the sanctuary, and in the centre will be set the Royal Throne. In the sanctuary itself will be placed, for the King's anointing, King Edward's chair, which contains the faithful Stone of Scone.

Lord Strathcona's Sound Imperialism

Lord Strathcona's suggestion that, if Britain is going to aid emigration to any of her colonies, she should accord Canada her share, is more than the natural protest of the Canadian representative in London. It is a piece of shrewd advice and long-headed Imperial patriotism.

There is no spot on earth where Britain can plant her sons at this time with so good a promise of a loyal harvest as in Canada. Let us call the roll, and see if this is not true.

Australia is not so solidly British. Not a great deal of immigration arrives there from anywhere except the British Isles. Nothing is ever likely to occur to call in question the allegiance of Australia, short of the dissolution of the Empire.

South Africa is, from this time forward, safely British. Any foreign immigration which the mines may draw there will always favor the justice of British law and the security of British Government to any possible alternative.

Canada is loyally British, to-day—never more so; but Canada is on the border of a great republic which is just beginning to "step over" into our territory. The free lands of the United States are exhausted. The day when Uncle Sam could give every one of his boys a farm has passed forever. American labor and American capital are both looking for new fields of development; and they are looking nowhere more eagerly than to Canada. That a vast American immigration will pour into this country in the near future is beyond the realm of conjecture.

Now we are not of those who fear the result. American workmen will come here to earn money and not to vote us into annexation; and American capital invested here will be as anxious as Canadian capital to shut out the competition of American capital invested in the United States.

But British ideals may suffer. Imperialism may lack vigor. And British immigrants who settle here will tend to minimize both these effects. The Englishman who goes to Australia will keep himself loyal and maintain the Imperial patch. The Englishman who comes to Canada will help to keep a nation loyal and to lift a whole community to the Imperial altitude. In Australia, he will be one, plus his influence. In South Africa, he will be a settler and a possible soldier. In Canada, he will be all this and a missionary into the bargain.

Lord Strathcona's contention is a clear-sighted proposal of high Imperial value.

Prosperity in the Yukon.

Governor Ross's report for the year ending June 30th, 1901, speaks most hopefully of the Yukon's mining future of the which, amongst other things, he says:

The progress of the Yukon Territory during the last year has been a very satisfactory character. The evolution from an uncertain, unstable and excited mining camp to a steady, permanent and prosperous community, has proceeded in a rapid and striking manner. Gold is still, as it probably will continue to be as long as the Yukon lasts, the chief product.

Copper has been discovered over a considerable extent of territory, and there is reasonable hope that its mining and smelting will develop into an important industry. Profitable work- ing of copper will depend upon many circumstances, and to some extent upon the continuance of gold production, since this will ensure permanent settlement of the country, and aid in cheapening all the essentials required in producing copper.

Coal has also been discovered and is now being regularly shipped in Dawson and other parts of the Territory. While the quality is yet not of the highest the coal is still a most valuable addition to the resources of the territory. The enormous quantity of wood required for heating purposes during the long winter season, and the still larger amount regularly consumed in thawing the ground and furnishing power in connection with the mining operations has occasioned alarm lest the somewhat meagre supply would be too rapidly consumed. The present supply of coal seems to remove to a great extent the danger from the failure of wood, and the demand on wood will be still reduced if the water supply can be used in such a manner as to make general the hydraulic method of mining. It is now well established by a number of examples that frozen ground can be disintegrated by water alone. The general application of steam to thawing the ground has also largely reduced the quantity of wood consumed, as compared with that required in the old method of direct application of burning wood to the ground.

With regard to the production of gold, I look with great confidence to its continuance for many years. The great requirements for higher class machinery and cheaper production of gold. At present ground that could not be worked at a profit a year or two ago can be successfully mined. Each change that lessens the cost of production increases the area of profitable working. It is confidently anticipated that large areas which have already been mined to the full extent that they profitably could be at the time they were mined under then existing conditions, can soon be wholly reworked at handsome profits.

Improvements in Road Making.

Some astonishing facts have been developed by the office of road inquiry of the department of agriculture. Who would have suggested, for instance, that bad roads are so costly in comparison with good ones as to increase the expense of moving farm products and supplies threefold? Yet such is the truth, and it is estimated that the money thus thrown away more than equals, in the aggregate, the entire expense of the United States government! On the average American road it costs twenty-five cents per ton to move produce one mile; on good roads the cost is only eight cents.

A very interesting study of road now used in several western and middle states possesses a double steel track, laid in a concrete bed, each rail being eight inches wide, with a change on the inner side, the space between the rail being such as to suit all standard guage vehicles. On these roads loads are drawn with surprising ease and swiftness. One instance is recorded in which a single horse drew a load of eleven tons, which could only be moved on an ordinary road by twenty horses. The steel track roads vary in cost from fifteen hundred dollars to thirty-five hundred dollars per mile.

Canada Moving Rapidly.

Canadians will be interested in the official advice emanating from Glace Bay, Cape Breton, N.S., yesterday, to the effect that the Dominion Coal Company has signed contracts to deliver coal in Sweden and Denmark. In the latter country the fuel goes to the Danish railways and other Old Country points are taking iron ore and pig iron from the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company.

Glasgow and other Old Country points are taking iron ore and pig iron from the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company.

Canada is certainly moving in the van of the prosperity procession these days. While at one end of the Dominion the American farmers are stampeding in thousands into our great western wheat areas, at the other end of the country we find great industrial enterprises beginning to supply Europe with coal and iron.

Canada's western granaries are equal to the task of furnishing Britain with her entire food supply if necessary, and we venture to say that in our immense mineral resources may be found the basis of the rehabilitation of England's commercial supremacy.

The Alberta Land Company

Has 20,000 acres of as fine land as can be selected in Beaver Lake, Vermilion and Birch Lake country.

These lands are adapted to both raising grain and stock. There are three lines of proposed Railroads running through this part of the country. These lands can never be bought cheaper than now. We are selling every day and they are not going to last long. Improve the opportunity and place your money where you are sure of securing a good profit by the investment.

Many invest in Mining, some in Oil, some in Bonds; only a few reach the goal; the rest find their hard earned money gone with only a piece of nice paper to tell the story. Why not buy a piece of land one-half mile [] to look at and see it increase from year to year in value until it makes you and yours a little fortune? It will surely come. It is only a question of time.

We solicit your trade. Call or write and get maps and information of these cheap lands.

The Toronto Daily Star, on May 17th, reviewed at length the development in the mining, lumbering, smelting, manufacturing, shipbuilding and agricultural industries of New Ontario
in an issue entitled "New Ontario edition." It shows a wonderful advancement to be taking place there.
The edition, consisting of 32 pages, is quite attractive and contains a map of New Ontario and many cuts of busy scenes. It retails at 10 cents.

The Indians of Stony Plain reserve are busy repairing the road east
from the agency buildings to the east boundary of the reserve, some four miles, putting in substantial bridges, etc., and if the work is pushed on who wish to do so, will arrange the date by calling at the Indian office. The Indians will assist them in repairing the south road as far towards town as possible. This work is actually necessary, as the base line road is now impassable.

W. Vader, who was drowned in the Saskatchewan on April, the 14th,
was a native of Prince Edward County,
Ontario, his home being on the Bay of Quinte. In 1867 he left his home for California where he resided for five years. He then came to British Columbia leaving there in '98, for the Klondike, but failed to reach it, returning by the Jasper Pass. On reaching the Line Kill flat he was attracted by what he "thought" the promising placer mining possibilities of the bar and the beach located there. He had already succeeded in getting his farm into shape and was about to erect some good buildings during the present summer. He was unmarried and about 40 years of age. Charles A.
Vader, his younger brother, lives near Calgary. The remains were interred in the Edmonton cemetery.

THE RAIN.

Heavy rain commenced to fall about midnight and continued in a steady down pour until 10 a. m. to-day, and continues at intervals, attended with more or less wind. The culverts are running like mill races to-day. In some places the houses are entirely surrounded by water. This morning at 8 a. m. there was a rush of water clear across Namayo avenue. The sheet of water extended as far as Fraser avenue. The concrete floor of the cellar in J.C.F. Bow's new house, has heaved up by the pressure of water.

The Storm at Macleod.

Macleod, N. W. T., May 24th.—The disastrous results of the five days'
storm have completely leveled the district from the rest of the world. Macleod was the storm centre of the late Territorial election and also of the greatest rainfall in the history of the district. The whole country has been inundated, rivers and streams swelling to impossible proportions, and railroad and traffic bridges swept away in driftwood. The Dominion government bridge across the Old Man river, and also the railroad bridge, have been carried away. The following bridges are also out, traffic bridges at Willow Creek, Standoff and Belly river, the bridge at Leithbridge and the railroad bridge at the confluence of the Belly and Old Man rivers. The destruction to stock on the ranges has been enormous.
